NOVEL ENTERTAINMENT.

It Was Provided by a St. Louis Man For His Wife's Feminine Friends.A wealthy St. Louisian, living in the vicinity of Lafayette park provided a novel form of entertainment for his wife's guests one evening, says the St.
Louis Republic.The hostess was extremely anxious to provide something original for the edification of a score of guests whom she intended to call together for an informal evening. Her husband promised to provide such novelty and took a beam companion into his confidence to that end.
They had not exchanged ideas 30 consecutive seconds before they bit upon the device of converting the elegant parlors into a gambling house pro tem.
A faro bank, a roulette wheel and poker and keno lay out were easily procurable, as the conferees well knew, and that part of the programme was soon settled. The friend suggested as a preliminary the introduction of a pair of bulldogs, "guaranteed to reduce each other to mince meat in three rounds. This rather staggered the ambitious host, but his friend is a ward politionian, and with the eloquence he always keeps on draft soon convinced the other that the evening would be a failure without these bulldogs.The evening arrived, and with it came the guests. The ladies were pretty shocked at sight of the gambling paraphernalia, but became accustomed to it in an astonishingly short time and engaged in the games with becoming vim. It was when the yellow bulldogs made their unexpected entrance that the horror of the fair guests proved genuine.
The beasts yelped and growled and showed other peculiar canine symptoms of "spoiling for a fight." Thereupon the ladies sought refuge on the piano and card tables and chairs, conducting their retreat as from a monst.Notwithstanding excited feminine protestations, the friend who had been consulted as to a novelty in entertainment unlashed the dogs. It was an exciting climax to an "original" evening.
The dogs feasted for five minutes on choice bits of each other's anatomy.
The ladies screamed and the friend who was consulted in the success of his novelty—and it took a considerable time to convince him—that the ladies' desire for gore had been fully gratified, he doused the dogs into a convenient tub of water and separated them.

Unappreciative.

A lady passenger in a Great Western train in England was much disturbed in her attempts at a nap by some one singing in the next compartment, so she asked the guard to interfere. That official did so and got laughed at for his pains, and two singing went on. At the next station the lady sent for the station master and requested him to succeed where the guard had failed. The station master went to the next compartment, and immediately returned to apologize. "I am very sorry, madam," he said, "but I really cannot ask your neighbor to stop singing. She is Mme.
Patti."

WHAT A DOLLAR DID.

A RICH CYNIC RECEIVES AN OBJECT
LESSON IN CHARITY.He Saw For Himself "How the Other Half Lives" and Learned That All Who Ask For Help Are Not Humbugs—The Experience Made a New Man of Him.One good woman, who has devoted much of her time for several years to the relief of distress among the very poor people of this city, succeeded in opening the eyes, and likewise the pocketbook, of a cynical rich man not many days ago. She solicited financial aid from him, and doubtless would have met with a brusque rebuff had it not been that her position in society commanded polite consideration. As it was, the rich man essayed to be patronizing and said: "My dear madam, I know that you try to do good among these poor people, but I can assure you that your efforts are practically wasted.
They take your money and such clothing and food as you can give them and then shake over your guiltiness.""If I can induce a starving creature to chuckle, I shall consider the time and money well spent," replied the woman, with a mild finge of reproach."Oh, well, I suppose that you are bound to keep on wasting your time," retorted the rich cynic. After a brief pause he continued: "If you will demonstrate to me that you can actually relieve distress with a dollar, I will give it to you just as often as you can demonstrate its usefulness in that direction.""Will you come with me?" said the woman thus challenged. The rich man assented and accompanied his philanthropic caller to her coupe. Both entered the conveyance and were driven to the neighborhood of Eleventh avenue and Fifth street. The coupe stopped in front of an unsightly tenement. In silence the man followed his companion up two or three flights of stairs, and he soon was standing in a cheerless room about 12 feet square. The floor and the walls were absolutely barren, and there were not more than four pieces of furniture in sight. One was a small stove, in which a scant fire was burning.A middle-aged man lay helpless on a cot, and kneeling by him wept a boy and a girl, no roughly clad, that their white skin was visible through more than one rent. A few empty dishes and cooking utensils lay on the floor near the stove told their mute story of destitution.The pathetic eagerness with which the three emaciated occupants of the room turned their glances upon the visiters, touched a long dormant chord of the rich man's heart. He involuntarily thrust his fingers into his vest pocket, but his companion, laying a restraining hand upon his arm, advanced to the cot, and in a delicate and sympathetic manner questioned the sick man, and himself, and his wife.She said: "I have only a few homemade pies, but they are better than nothing. I will bring them to you."The man, who had been called to his attention by only a few homemade pies, but they are better than

RHODES TO BE INVESTIGATED.

The arrival of Cecil Rhodes, ex-Premier of Cape Colony, in London to be present at the Parliamentary investigation of the part played by him in the Transvaal raid of 1895-96 revives interest in an international episode that one time seemed likely to result in an European war.

Dr. Jameson and the lesser men having been duly punished, it is now Rhodes' turn to give an account of his part in the raid. At the time of the raid Rhodes was President of the Chartered Company and Premier of Cape Colony, and the intimate as well as official relations between himself and Jameson give reason for supposing that the great man of South Africa was not wholly ignorant of what "Dr. Jim" was about. At the time Rhodes declared that Jameson, in crossing the border, had acted without his authority, and he also said that he did all he could to recall Jameson. Such was the force of opinion at the Cape and in London, however, that Rhodes was forced to resign the Premiership at the colony and also to lay before the Chartered Company his resignation as President. Rhodes proceeded to London last February and stayed a few days, and then returned to South Africa without having satisfactorily explained his connection with the disastrous raid. A Parliamentary inquiry was held at the Cape, but resulted in nothing. Now Parliament is to give a quietus to the whole affair by formally inquiring into Rhodes' share in the raid.

Rhodes' courage and vigor and administrative ability as one of England's greatest colony builders has given him a unique place among the Englishmen of to-day, and the progress of inquiry into his case will be watched with great interest all over the world.

IS HANNA TO BE REWARDED?

Mark Hanna, who collected from the trusts, monopolists and money kings of the United States and Europe about $18,000,000 for the purpose of fastening the single gold standard on the United States by corrupt means, prefers a seat in the United States Senate to a place in President McKinley's Cabinet. The great political manipulator could have his choice of departmental portfolios, but the duties are too onerous, and he desires a seat in the Senate, which he can occupy and look wise, or from which he can absent himself and not be missed. The scheme to gratify the ambition of Mr. Hanna has met the approval of Senator Sherman, who is to resign his place in the Senate to accept a place in the Cabinet.

Though President-elect McKinley, Mark Hanna and Senator John Sherman have arranged this program, there are obstacles in the way of carrying it out, which, of course, can be removed by a liberal allowance of federal patronage. Governor Bushnell of Ohio will have the appointment of a successor to Senator Sherman. The Governor and Senator Foraker are not particularly in love with the McKinley-Hanna-Sherman wing of the Republican party in Ohio. It is given out that Governor Bushnell and Senator Foraker are opposed to the appointment of Mr. Hanna as Senator. He has too much influence with the President-elect to suit them, and unless there is a clear and distinct understanding that there shall be an equitable distribution of the spoils it is not probable that Marcus A. Hanna will succeed John Sherman as Senator from Ohio, though as a reward for his ability in manipulating elections he can have his choice of Cabinet positions.

NEVADA IN A NEW ROLE.

From this time on Nevada will be a target for newspaper sarcasm because it is to be the only State in the Union which will tolerate and license prize fighting pure and simple. The San Francisco Post opens the ball as follows:

"Among the many diversified industries which place our neighboring State of Nevada in the front rank of American commonwealths, we are convinced there are none which will produce for it a greater return than that which is about to be introduced. We refer to the industry to be promoted by the bill now before the Nevada Legislature, authorizing prize fighting under State auspices. Under this bill the sage-brush State will no doubt soon become a paradise of boxing. To it the elect of all parts of the country will travel at stated intervals, and the battles that will take place within its borders will secure for it a lasting place in the temple of fame.

"Now that silver mining is on the decline and that the sage-brush State does not produce a great deal of gold, it is a good idea to encourage the propagation of boxing gloves and twenty-four-foot rings throughout that region. There is nothing in the climate of Nevada, so far as we know, which is inimical to the growth of these modern necessities of civilization.

"The Post is opposed to prize fighting, but if the brutal sport is to be tolerated, we know of no place better adapted to it than Nevada. The air of the mountains is bracing, the location is far from the madding crowd, there is no chance for the contagion of immorality to spread, the distance is too great for the reformers to get there, and, all in all, Nevada is an ideal place for the fight.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE.

An Interesting Communication Regarding the Matter.

EDITOR JOURNAL: Dr. Eliza Cook, local president of the Douglas county Equal Suffrage League, has sent our petition to the Legislature to Mrs. J. R. Williamson's headquarters at the Arlington, in Carson, according to the instructions of our State President, Mrs. Elda A. Orr.

In the voters' column of the petition will be found the names of many of the representative men of this county, and we take pleasure in saying that the number and character of signers would be a credit to a much more thickly populated county than Douglas.

Notwithstanding the fact that, owing to the condition of many of the roads we have been unable to make a general canvass of all the precincts of the county, we have done thorough work as far as we could go, and the response has been prompt and generous. It would be perfectly safe to say that nineteen out of every twenty to whom the petition has been presented have signed it.

There are still a few people who are appalled by the requirements of the voter, and fear that woman will not be able to fulfill her part of the contract when the inestimable boon of franchise is granted.

To such we would say that all we ask of this Legislature is to grant us the privilege of trying for the same.

A two-thirds vote ought to be a sufficient expression of the voting element. No doubt if the work terminates successfully in a law, matters will adjust themselves to the new order of events. Other objections met by us have been so often and fully answered that only one more requires more than passing notice. This is the one "that California in her recent election overwhelmingly defeated the sixth amendment to the constitution, and has set us an example." Now, so far as this is concerned, statistics show that outside of the cities of San Francisco and Oakland our amendment carried by a fine plurality vote, and so far as the majority in both of the cities above named is concerned, Nevada could not if she would follow California's example: she has no slum pollwog plant from which the corresponding plurality vote could be evolved in the short space of two years.

Her population, and consequently our majority vote, is constituted principally of law-abiding, home-making, tax-paying, respectable, native-born American or Americanized and Americanizing citizens, and among this latter class is found some of our most patriotic and best citizens.

Some one has suggested an exceedingly pretty and ingenious device by which, as State after State comes into the Equal Suffrage calendar, a corresponding star is draped in the America in the color of the Woman's Suffrage Association order to proclaim the glad event.

The petitioners from Douglas desire to be put with the rest of the State of Nevada in line to work for the yellow star, and we most earnestly pray that each Senator and each member of the House will consider the advisability of the measure favorably, and vote accordingly. E. B. B.

The Door of Life.
The fear of pain and the dangers of partition fill many a woman's breast with dismay. There is no reason why childbirth should be fraught with danger and distress. It is a perfectly natural function, and should be performed in a natural way without undue suffering. Nature never intended that women should be tortured when doing the one thing which makes them wholly womanly. The perversion of nature's laws has brought this suffering about, and a return to right living will stop it.

Nine out of ten women are troubled more or less by weakness and diseases peculiar to their sex. It is so because they do not take proper care of themselves because they neglect little ills and little precautions. A woman in perfectly hearty health goes through her time of trial with comparative ease. The thing to do then, is to make all expectant mothers healthy—to strengthen them generally and locally. The medicine and tonic, to do it with is Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

It is a powerful invigorant and nerve. It soothes and strengthens the nerves and acts directly on the feminine organism in a way which fits it for the proper and regular performance of all its functions at all times.

Taken during gestation it robs child of its dangers to both mother and child, by preparing the system for delivery thereby shortening labor, lessening pain and abbreviating the period of confinement.

The testimony of a prominent physician:

FOUNTAIN CITY, Ind., June 17, 1895.

This certifies that I have been using V. O. in my practice. I have never found any medical preparation in 46 years of practice that is calculated to do so much good in so wide a range of diseases and leave no after bad effects. In Diphtheria it has proved a perfect specific in my hands, and I had rather depend on it alone in that dreadful disease than the whole popular Materia Medica with that left out.

The Jones Banquet an Elegant and Enjoyable Affair—Large Attendance.

CARSON, January 28, 1897.

The Jones banquet at the Arlington last night was one of the most enjoyable and elegant affairs of the kind ever given in Carson. The dining room, under the direction of mine host Robert Grimmon and his estimable wife, was decorated and arranged especially for the occasion. Vases of flowers occupied every conceivable place in and about the room and great baskets of cut flowers embellished the tables. The service was the best that could be procured in Carson and every detail of the tables presented an elaborate and inviting appearance.

The Reno Orchestra of eight pieces was stationed on a platform and during the progress of the banquet entertained the guests with enlivening music. Shortly before the hour of 10 o'clock p.m. the guests marched into the dining hall and remained standing at their chairs while Toast Master Judge Hawley extended a hearty welcome in behalf of the committee and bid adieu to the guests and make merry with, of course, reasonable decorum, and after the wine of refreshment and the accompanying good things had been thoroughly discussed, there would be a feast of reason and a flow of soul that would doubtless be an intellectual treat. The guests were then seated. A souvenir folder having on its cover on one side a picture of Senator Jones, around and under which was printed "Thirty years in the U. S. Senate, 1873-1903, from the members of the eighteenth session Nevada legislature, Jan. 27, 1897." In relief on the center was an imitation of an envelope addressed to Hon. John P. Jones, Washington, D. C., and marked, certificate of election, duly stamped and postmarked. On the back cover is a cut of the capitol building at Carson. The inside pages are filled with the "roll of honor" giving the names of those who voted for Senator Jones at the various sessions of the legislature from 1873 to 1897 inclusive.

The menu card was similarly embellished on the outside and the inside covers gave the toasts and responses, numbering twelve, also the menu of the evening.

After the inner man had been fully satisfied the toast master called upon the various speakers on the program to respond as follows:

"Nevada," Eugene Howell.

"The Judiciary," Judge W. A. Massey.

"The Nevada Bar," Hon. S. Summerfield.

"The Legislature," Hon. Geo. Ernst.

"The Senator Elect," C. C. Powning.

"The Great East," Hon. J. A. Denton.

"Our Mining Industry," J. H. Kinkead.

"The Young Men," C. H. Culbourn.

"The Advance Agent," Dr. J. E. Stabbs.

"Silver's Rights," Dr. H. Bergstein.

"The Ladies," J. H. Dennis.

"The Press," S. F. Davis.

"The Allied Forces," F. M. Hoffacker.

Space will not permit of individual mention of the speakers, but all were good and there were a number of gems of oratory that awakened enthusiasm. Every speaker referred to the Senator elect, praising him for his service, his leadership and general liberal and kindly disposition. The entertainment lasted over three hours and the "wee sma' hours" of morning were far advanced before the guests retired from the scene of festivity. A telegram of thanks was received to-day from Senator Jones and was read in each branch of the legislature.

The glove contest bill was before the Senate at this morning's session and petitions and communications remonstrating against its passage were read. Further than this there seemed to be but little opposition to the bill and it was finally passed by the following vote:

Yeas—Messrs. Denton, Gregovich, Kaiser, Lord, Martin, Mills, Richards, Skaggs, Summerfield (of Humboldt) —9

Nays—Messrs. Combs, Ernst, Leavitt, Summerfield (of Washoe), Wilson, McCone—6.

It was remarked that the affirmative vote was composed almost wholly of Senators who were hold-overs from last session. It may be that they hold the opinion that their several terms of office have nearly expired and as a monument to their memory and a record to be handed down to future generations they favored glove contests between man and man putting it mildly, but in reality slogging matches as a source of revenue for the State.

The question now agitating the minds of some of the statesmen is where will the fight be pulled off? Reno, Carson and Virginia are mentioned as competitive points, but it is more than probable that the managers of the contest will now say to Nevada or to one of the places named above, "how much can you raise for the fight," or the sum of $10,000 or $20,000 will be asked for, in order to favor a community. If this should follow, the anticipated speculation, not saying anything of the moral effect, would fall far short in net profits or as a matter of revenue. In other words the luxury would be an expensive one.

The proceedings of the day's session in both branches are as follows:

Senate.

Met at 11 a.m., President McCone in the chair.

Roll call. All present.

Prayer by the chaplain.

Journal read and approved.

The following telegram was received from Washington, D. C., January 27, 1897:

THE PRIZE-FIGHT BILL.

The measure that is now attracting much attention.

The following is the bill introduced by Mr. Garrard to license boxing contests in Nevada:

Section 1. Any person over the age of 21 years may procure a license for an exhibition in a public place of any contest or exhibition with gloves between man and man for a wager or reward, and the weight of the gloves shall not be less than four ounces used in said contest or exhibition.

Section 2. The Sheriff of any county in which the exhibition named in Section 1 of this act is to be held shall issue a license for such exhibition or contest upon the payment to him of the sum of $250.

Section 3. Blank licenses shall be prepared by the County Auditor of the county in which the exhibition or contest named in Section 1 of this act is to be held, which license shall be issued and accounted for as is by law provided for in respect to other county licenses. Each license delivered by the Sheriff under the provisions of this act shall contain the name of the licensees, and the name of the contestants for the reward or wager offered for such exhibition or contest.

A Painful Accident.

Professor Church of the University met with a painful accident while returning from a ride early last evening. As the professor was turning his horse into the alley leading to the barn, the horse fell, with Professor Church's leg under him, fracturing the large bone just above the ankle. The injury while not serious, is very painful and will lay the professor up for a few weeks. Dr. Williams reduced the fracture.

A Dead Man's Hoard.

Public Administrator Beck of Storey county yesterday found $400 in a cupboard of the house in Virginia in which the late Judge Hayton lived. Shortly before his death Judge Hayton said that his money was nearly all gone. The Judge left no will and if no relatives are discovered the money which is left after the claims against the estate are paid will revert to the State.

AN ENCOURAGING OUTLOOK.

Samples Taken from the Harris Mine Give Good Results.

It is odd, but nevertheless true, that the average citizen of this State often overlooks a good thing right under his nose while hunting for rich mining prospects. The following assay results are from the Harris mine, in the southern part of Washoe county, and speak for themselves.

First assay—Silver, $56.66.
Second—Silver, $31.42.
Third—Silver, $47.78; gold, $5.01.
Total, $52.79.
Fourth—Silver, $12.56; gold, $251.16.
Total, $263.72.

There are many abandoned prospect holes in this part of the State that no doubt would develop in good shape if only the necessary elbow grease were used. Washoe county is fairly blistered with metals of all descriptions, and it is the fault of the people themselves that there is no more being done in the mining line.
